INTERNATIONAL RUGBY BOARD

Facts & Figures

KEY FACTS

- DANIEL CARTER wins his 100th Test cap for New Zealand on Saturday to become the fifth centurion for the All Blacks. He made his Test debut for New Zealand in a 15-13 loss to England ten years ago.
- England's 38-21 win over New Zealand last December stopped a nine-game losing streak for England against the All Blacks and also denied New Zealand from equalling their record of 17 consecutive wins which they achieved between 1965 and 1969.
- The largest margin of victory in this fixture came in June 1998. New Zealand came out 64-22 victors in Dunedin.
- SAM WHITELOCK wins his 50th Test cap for New Zealand this weekend. He made his debut in a 66-28 win against Ireland in 2010.
- England's DYLAN HARTLEY also wins his 50th Test cap on Saturday. He made his Test debut in a 39-13 win against the Pacific Islanders in 2008.
- If England beat New Zealand on Saturday it will be their seventh consecutive home win.
- If New Zealand lose to England on Saturday it will be the first time they have lost two consecutive matches against an opponent since 2009 when they lost to South Africa three times in a row.

TEAM NEWS

- TOBY FLOOD will win his 60th Test cap for England if he comes off the bench this weekend. He made his Test debut in a 25-18 loss to Argentina in 2006.
- KIERAN READ wins his 60th Test cap for New Zealand against England on Saturday. He made his debut in a 32-6 win against Scotland in 2008.
- DAN COLE makes his 40th Test start at prop for England against New Zealand on Saturday. He made his debut as a replacement in a 30-17 win against Wales in 2010.

ARE YOU EXPERIENCED?

- New Zealand field a very experienced starting XV with a total of 842 caps compared to England's total of 314.
- KEVEN MEALAMU will be the oldest player on the pitch at the age of 34. England's BILLY VUNIPOLA will be the youngest player on the pitch at the age of 21.
- England have three players in the starting XV with less than ten caps. These are BILLY VUNIPOLA, BILLY TWELVETREES and JOEL TOMKINS. New Zealand only have one player with less than ten caps: CHARLES PIUTAU.

COACHES CORNER

- England have won 19, lost seven and drawn one match with a win percentage of 61% since STUART LANCASTER took charge in 2011.
- New Zealand have won 24, lost one and drawn one since STEVE HANSEN took charge in 2012.

HEAD TO HEAD

- Saturday's match will be the 36th time these two sides have met in all competitions. New Zealand dominate with 27 wins, seven losses and a 26-26 draw in 1997.
- This is the 21st time that the two sides have met at Twickenham, with New Zealand still managing to dominate with 14 wins compared to England's five, with one draw between the sides.
- The first meeting between the two sides was in 1905 which finished with the touring All Blacks beating the hosts 15-0 in Crystal Palace.
- The most recent fixture between the two sides was in December last year. England won 38-21, their first defeat of the All Blacks since 2003.
- England have scored 462 points in all competitions against New Zealand scoring 45 tries in the process, compared to New Zealand who have scored 831 points and 102 tries against England.
- England have a slight advantage in terms of pack weight on Saturday. They come in at an average 114kg per forward compared to New Zealand's average of 113kg.

FORM GUIDE

- England have won four of their last five matches after beating Argentina 31-12 last weekend and Australia 20-13 two weeks ago. The last time England failed to win was in March when they lost 30-3 to Wales at the Millennium Stadium.
- New Zealand are currently on a winning streak of 12 consecutive matches. Their last loss was against England last December.

TRY COUNT

- England have scored 17 tries in their last five matches. The last time England failed to score was when they lost 30-3 to Wales in March.
- New Zealand have scored 23 tries in their last five matches. New Zealand have scored a try in 16 consecutive matches so far and last failed to score a try in 2012 when they drew 18-18 with Australia.

TRY SCORERS

- JULIAN SAVEA wins his 19th Test cap and has scored 16 tries so far for the All Blacks.

MAN IN THE MIDDLE

- CRAIG JOUBERT of South Africa will take charge of the clash on Saturday. It will be the 46th Test that he has officiated.
